Theatricals.

Bowery Theatre.—Another exceedingly attractive bill is presented for Monday evening. The grand patriotic spectacle of "Putnam" will commence the entertainments, with Mr. J. R. Scott as Oneactah, and Mr. W. R. Derr as Putnam. The Bowery stage is admirably suited for the proper production of such pieces, being the largest theatre in the world; and it is but justice to say that Mr. Hamblin spares neither pains nor expense in scenery and every property necessary to the brilliant display of every piece which demands scenic effect. The entertainments will conclude with the nantical drams of "Ben. the Boatswain."

Broadway Theatre.—The great, and we might say unprecedented, success of the splendid and gorgeous spectacle of "Faustus." induces the management to continue its representation for some time longer. We have heard every one speak of it both as regards the acting and magnifecence of scenery, in the highest terms of praise, and we will be much surprised if it do not draw large assemblages for a month to came. But when it is also known that the performances will commence with the new comedy—first time in America—written by Charles Belby, called "The Husband of my Heart." with Conway, Shaw, Schart, Mad Ponial, and Miss J. Gougenheim, the Broadway will not be spacious emough to accommodate those who will visit it next week.

Burrey's Thearne.—This theatre is, as usual, at-with the splendid pantomime of the "Golden Ave." This is an exceedingly attractive bill, and one that will draw well.

Baccanan's Lycome.—This very popular and favorite place of amusement is doing well. The acting is good—the musical performances excellent, and the meanagement, both before and behind the curtain, every way calculated to sive general satisfaction. Tomerow evening, two splendid places are offered for the enjoyment of the visiters. Dickens's excellent work of "Domby & Son." will be revived, with a great cast. The character of Toots will be sustained by the original representative. Mr. Raymond—the past of Busan Nipper, by Mrs. Brougham, and Miss Kate Rorn as Rdith. The other place will be the attractive drama of "David Copperfield," which is nightly witnessed with delight, and every scone followed by enthusiastic cheering.

American Mcarum.—The entertainments for the next week will consist of vaudevilles, comedies, and Rthiopian singing by Domaldson's screenaders. The amusements, generally speaking, both in the afternoon and evening, give the utmost satisfaction to the patrons of this theatre of variety.

Cincra—Surana Pancany—After several weeks preparation, the manager of the Amphitheatre in the Bowery, announces the first representation of the "Revoit of the Harem" on Monday evening. The whole performance is done in the asens. Processions, magic transformations, wild animals, cavalcades, caravana combate on horseback—ten camels, two elephants, a troupe of Arabian horses—chariots, cars, Ac., will be introduced in the grand pageant. The cost of the contunes and trappings is said to be immense, and the effects produced by its representation will be novel and interesting. It is, beyond doubt the most coatly piece ever brought out in the ring of a circus and it will draw multitudes. In addition to the other talented members of the Bowery troupe, Messra Franklin, Rivers and Runnals will make their first appearance on bionday.

The Reported Trouble between Messrs. Fillmore and Webster—The Nicaragus Treaty.

The story which you published in a letter from Washington, of a difficulty between Mr. Webster and Mr. Fillmore, in consequence of an article having appeared in the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, stating that Mr. Webster was not a candidate for the Presidency is, I have the best reason to know, wholly false. It was first put in circulation by Mr. Seward, whether as a joke or not, I cannot sayl and has doubtless been forwarded to you by some one who was green enough to believe it—or for not very creditable reasons, chose to circulate an uni-

Whatever views either Mr. Fillmore or Mr. Webster may have in connection with the Press dency, if any, they are not made the subject of cabinet conversations—least of all such a conversion as that reported to have occurred. There is no reason why Mr. Webster, however, should not aspire to the chief magistracy; and there are few, I think, who would not acknowledge that he could bring to that office intellect of the highest order, and talent far superior to that which have usually occupied the White House.

Mr. Seward and his myrmidons are actively engaged in trying to foment mischief, if they can, between Mr. Fillmore and Mr. Webster, but they must try some deeper game than the one just noticed, before they can succeed. It would be well for the President were he to act decidedly at once towards the Seward clique, instead of continuing to heap favors upon them. The fable of the old man and the viper was never more forcibly illustrated than it is being now, in the manner in which the favors of the administration are being distributed.

As soon as the minister from the State of Nicara-gua arrives, the whole treaty negotiations with that country will be opened, and a treaty concluded, which will leave nothing doubtful or in a hive. I have no doubt but that Mr. Webster will take care and see that our interests do not suffer, and that the meddling policy of England will not be permitted to interfere with the rights of any of our citizens. Another Fugitive Slave Case for the President's Consideration.

l enclose to you a copy of a very interesting letter, written by the Hon. W. A. Richardson, of Illinois, to Millard Fillmore, President of the United States, on the subject of the Fugitive Slave law.

Illinois, to Millard Fillmore, President of the United States, on the subject of the Fugitive Slave law, and to which no answer has as yet been retuined. Here it is:—

House of Refragentatives, Dec. 20, 1810.

The President of the United States:—

Sim—I ask the removal of A. Williams, Attorney for the United States for the district of Illinois.

On the last election day in raid State, at the president of Melrose, in the county of Adams, Mr. Williams, in a speech which he made to the electors of said predict, as I am informed and believe, represented this the Fugitive Slave law, passed at the last session of Congress, caspended the writ of habeas corpus and abolished trial by jury.

If Mr. Williams honestly believed that said law did what he represented, he is not qualified to discharge the duties of his office. If he did not believe what he said, he is not honest enough to have confided to him the business of the government.

I forbear to argue the impropriety of an officer of this government interfering to sailify the law of the land, by poisoning the public mind by misrepresentations. If deemed necessary, I will furnish the proofs of the facts above given.

I have the honor to be, your obt. servant,

WM. A. RICHARDSON.

Now, I think this is a pretty letter, and what may be called multum in parvo. The subject certainly requires investigation; and if Mr. Williams, Discrict Attorney for Illinois, has really made use of the words attributed to him—a fact which Mr. Richardson is ready to substantiate—the President ought certainly not to hesistate a single moment to dismiss the conscientious lawyer from his very disagreeable task. The columns of the Herald will, no doubt, bring the matter at once to the consideration of Congress and of the public. Where is the Union Safety Committee?

His exposition, from the public documents, o the progress of the African slave trade, is sufficiently notorious; but has attracted too little the attention of Congress. It appears that within five years, from 1845 to 1849, no less than one hundred and seventy-three thousand slaves were landed at the single port of Rio Janeiro, from the coast of Africa; and that within the same period ninety vessels, built in these United States, for this express business, have been engaged in it. These vessels go out to Brazil ostensibly in the honest business of commerce—there they secure sea letters to the coast of Africa, under which, protected by the American flog, they are enabled to go without molestation. Then the crew, if it does not submit to go into the business of aiding in shipping a cargo of slaves, is obsuissed; and American sailors often thus are left to perish on the pestignatial coast of Africa. The squadrons watching the African coast and the Brazilian coast, have proved a failure. The slave trade has rather been stimulated than suppressed; and increased, instead of being diminished. The coffee plantations of Brazil require slaves, and they will be paid for while cellee is in demand. It is suggested that American sea letters, from Brazil to the coast of Africa, should be denied, there being no other trade between the two shores than the slave trade. The petitioners pray that a line of our war scamers, or a line of steam packets, he established to run to the coast of Africa, and watch the slavers; but Mr. Clay eloquently urged the colonization of the coast of Africa, as the only efficient means of suppressing this abominable traffic. His argument was a colonization argument—the shapment of free people of color of the United States, to the coast of Africa, at their own choice It would be, as he contended, to the interests of both races in the United States, of both sections, and of all classes, to push forward this paramount object of colonization. Thus is also the scheme of Mr. Webster, who, in his great compromise speech of the last session, declared his willingness to appropriate to Arrican colonization the caure receipts of the public formain ceded by the State of Virginia to the federal government, equal to §50,000,000.

It is very evident from the legislation in the States of by Congress, upon this subject, before long; and we should suppose that Africa; and that within the same period ninety ves-Bernum's Museum, Philadbelphia...P.
